

The family justice system is fragmented.

There is limited data and research available.

Professionals can only see their role

not each other's or children's

through it.

We analyse and share data and research

in an accessible way, so people can see the bigger picture.

We shine a spotlight on key issues.

We bring people together, convening conversations and empowering professionals to come up with solutions.

We are a catalyst for change.

By creating a space for professionals to exchange ideas and develop new ways of working, and providing insight and clarity into the system as a whole, we improve the lives of children and families.
